New York City.

Gentlemen:-

Notice has come to us that you have recently issued an interesting prize medal designed by an indian. Would it be possible for us to get a specimen copy of this medal, as we are putting on record and collecting for future generations everything in the medallic line, especially anything that pertains to America.

Besides having a very large collection of coins and medals, we have a permanent exhibition of medallic art open to visitors, and would appreciate it very much if we could come into possession of one of these medals.

Some Societies, that issue medals for prizes or awards, deposit a specimen of their medals with us either uninscribed, or marked specimen, or our own name, so that they show on the face of them that they are not given to us as an award.

We remain,

Very truly,

Curator.
